

Heroes of the 1885 Northwest Resistance Summary of those killed

Duck Lake (March 26, 1885):

Ah-si-we-in (Ahseweyin, aka Joseph Trottier member of Okemasis Band buried at St. Laurent)
Isidore Dumont Jr. (buried at St. Laurent)
Augustine Laframboise, member of Petaquaquey's Band (buried at St. Laurent)
Joseph Montour (buried at St. Laurent)
Jean Baptiste Montour (buried at St. Laurent)

Memorial at Batoche looking south, Ron Jobin in background. Photo by L. Barkwell 2009.

Memorial at Batoche looking east, Elder Rose Fleury in background. Photo by L. Barkwell 2009.

Coulée des Tourond/Fish Creek (April 23-24, 1885):

Francois Boyer, wounded in battle died three days later (buried at Batoche).
Captola or Blue Beaver aka Chapitolata, a Dakota Sioux warrior (buried at Batoche).
Michel Desjarlais, wounded in battle died three days later (buried at Batoche).
Joseph Vermette (buried at Batoche)
St. Pierre Parenteau (buried at Batoche)
Wah pitiwakipe aka Joli Corbeau or Fine Crow, a Dakota Sioux warrior.
Watsas, a Sioux warrior.

Memorial at Batoche looking north. Photo by L. Barkwell, 2009.

Batoche (May 9-12, 1885):

Gregoire Boyer, wounded at Batoche died days later (buried at Batoche).
Isidore Boyer (buried at Batoche).
Damase Carrière (buried at Batoche).
Joseph Vandal (buried at Batoche).
Andre “Petchis” Letendre (buried at Batoche).

Ambroise Jobin, wounded at Batoche died later at Saskatoon (buried at Batoche).
Ambroise Dumont Sr., wounded at Batoche, died later (buried at Batoche).
José Ouellette (buried at Batoche).
Donald (Daniel) Ross (buried at Batoche).
Calixte Tourond (buried at Batoche).
Elzéar Tourond (buried at Batoche).
John (Natumeo) Swain (buried at Batoche).
Michel Trottier (buried at Batoche).

Memorial at Batoche looking west. Photo by L. Barkwell, 2009.

Mass grave at Batoche, photo by L. Barkwell 2009.

