

William Todd Jr., (1823-1871)

William Todd Jr. was born at York Factory, baptized Sept. 7, 1823 at St. John's Cathedral by John West. He was the son of Dr. William Todd¹ and his Metis wife Isabelle Dennett, the daughter of William Dennett and Sophia Ballendine.

In 1841 William joined the Hudson Bay Company as Apprentice Postmaster in Swan River District and worked as Clerk and Postmaster in the Columbia district until 1865 when he became a Free-trader and returned to Red River. He was married on Aug.16, 1849 at St. Andrew's Anglican, Red River Settlement to Sarah Jane Johnstone. They had six children:

- Albert, born 1846.
- Samuel, born 1850.
- Isabelle, born 1852.
- William, born 1853.
- Donald, born 1855.
- Fanny, born 1857.

After the death of Sarah he married Fannie Anne Hourie (b. 1842), the daughter of John Henry Hourie and Jessie Dennett circa 1870. Their daughter, Mary Jane, was born 1870, and baptized at St. Clements in Mapleton Nov. 27 1870 and died 1877. Fanny's mother was Jessie Janet Jane Dennet the sister of William's mother, Isabella Dennet. Her father was John Hourie a farmer. William died on July 18, 1870.
